

a podcast from BirdNote[®]

Episode 2 Bird List: The Song of the Big Island

Prepared by Bob Sundstrom

00:02 Japanese White-eye calls, mostly in background.

03:40 Northern Cardinal song begins, Japanese White-eye calls continue.

03:58 Zebra Dove calls (Morse code-like sequence), remaining in background.

04:00 Common Myna loud calls begin.

04:37 Loud Common Myna calls again.

04:55 Loud Zebra Dove calls begin.

[Mix of Northern Cardinal, Japanese White-eye and Common Myna continues for several minutes.]

07:18 Apapane song begins.

07:34 Apapane wing flutter sounds, now heard repeatedly as Apapanes fly over.

08:35 Spotted Dove calls, behind louder Apapanes.

08:49 louder Zebra Dove calls begin, with multiple doves calling together with sporadic Japanese White-eye calls, Northern Cardinal song and Common Myna calls.

10:40 Multiple Common Mynas chorusing loudly, Zebra Doves too.

11:50 Sputtering calls of Kalij Pheasant, which go on for minutes.

11:57 Hwamei calls and song, loud Northern Cardinal song a bit later.

12:40 Louder Hwamei song, also at 13:00.

14:00-14:04, and later: Gray Francolin(s) crowing.

14:19 Gray Francolin short calls and crowing.

14:40 Loud Northern Cardinal song begins.

14:52 Loud Zebra Doves, Common Mynas.

15:30 Japanese White-eye in background.

15:50 – 25:00 Gray Francolin crows as Northern Cardinal sings in foreground for several minutes; Zebra Doves continue in background to at least 24:00, and Common Mynas continue and dominate sounds in last several minutes of recording; occasional Spotted Dove song/call in background.

26:10 END.

